CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA ARE NOT DESPERATE SAYS CORRESPONDENT

Good Feeling Noticeable On Streets—Everything From Potatoes To Jewelry For Sale—Interviews Given By Communist Leaders.

Note to Readers.—A rearrangement of communists views in Russia regarding some phases of the relationship between capital, industry and agriculture is under way, but it is apparent that the soviet will attempt to retain control of the vital industries and in any event, Nicolai Lenin will remain master of the situation.

This is the opinion of Louise Bryant, who is probably the most competent impartial journalist in the world today to explain to the people of America the true situation in Russia. Miss Bryant is now at Riga, after spending a year and a half in Russia as correspondent of the International News Service. She did not confine her residence to Moscow. She traveled throughout the country, visiting the detached republics of Khiva and Bokhara. She talked with peasants, soviet commissioners and workers as well as to those of the soviet government. Her views are a composite combination of all shades of Russian opinion.

On account of recent reports circulated in Latvia that the heads of the soviet at Moscow had renounced communism as "bankrupt," Miss Bryant was instructed to give to the people of the United States, her own story of Russia today. It follows:

BY LOUISE BRYANT.

Copyright 1921 by The International News Service.

Riga, June 4.—When I left Russia the street markets were in full swing and everything was for sale from potatoes to jewelry. There were great crowds everywhere, and there was noticeable good feeling. I saw there for the first time in months, white bread and vegetables for sale. In Moscow two markets were doing business—one smolensk, an old historic one, and Skurvska, both very large, extending down wide streets for half a mile. The general appearance was like that of a country fair.

I do not feel competent to predict whether changes will bring about a return to capitalism. I can only say that changes which have been made are extremely popular and they were made because of poor distribution, lack of bread and the demands of the peasants.

Before me I have the speeches made at the all-Russian communist congress just held at Moscow. Lenin in his opening address said:

"Peasants constitute the majority of the Russian population. Therefore, our chief problem of policy in general and of economic policy in particular is to rebuild as soon as possible, definite relations between the city workers and the peasants. During the civil war, the chief factor which determined the form of policy and connection between peasants and workers was military necessity."

"Our second policy concerns the development of small industries without fear of complete return of capitalism. It must be considered that the petty trade of the peasants cannot be stable to any degree without some sort of capitalistic relations."

M. Milutin was appointed by the soviet central committee to investigate and report upon the present economic conditions said:

"The question of free trade is one of advocacy of monopolies, whether to be placed upon all products. The great nationalized industries, remain the basis of the peoples economy. By developing such industries as leather, textile goods, etc., the government will still have in its hands, the main economic factors of production, namely, fuel, transport and raw materials. These give the government a colossal, economic lever."

CLOUDBURST HITS NORWOOD FLOODING CELLARS OF HOMES

Oakland, Reading and Bond Hill Are Sufferers.

Cincinnati, June 4.—One of the worst cloudbursts and electrical storms experienced in Norwood hit that city late yesterday flooding cellars in all parts of the town, strewn rubbish over the streets and causing heavy damage to factories and residences with basements.

One of the heaviest sufferers was the Norwood Sash and Door company, where eight feet of water in the basement ruined several thousand dollars worth of finished material, including doors and screens.

The rush of water damaged railroad tracks and invaded dwellings, forcing occupants to seek upper stories. The storm also assumed proportions of a cloudburst in Oakland, Reading and other outlying towns.

Oakley and Bond Hill were hard hit by the cloudburst, streets in both towns being covered with several inches of water at the height of the storm. Hundreds of cellars were flooded.

LOVE INTRIGUES OF EX-GERMAN PRINCE RELATED

Former Crown Prince's Actions Play Part In Trial

GIRL BRINGS SUIT

French Author Sued For Libel By Pretty Blanche Desserre.

Paris, June 4.—The love intrigues of the former German crown prince during his war time stay on French soil, will play an important part in a libel action, which began at Nancy today.

The suit was brought by Blanche Desserre, a beautiful 21 year old brunette, against Louis Dumar, an author. She seeks $4,000 damages for statements made in Dumar's book "The Butcher of Verdun," relative to her alleged relations with the ex-crown prince when his headquarters were at Stenay north of Verdun.

When the trial opened, attorneys for Mlle. Desserre read extracts from the book concerning the former crown prince's alleged love affairs with "countless mistresses, including not only French women in town occupied by German troops, but German women imported from Berlin and stenographers attached to his headquarters."

Attorneys for the plaintiff said that references to Mlle. Desserre compelled her to leave her home in Stenay and go to Nancy to escape disgrace.

Counsel for M. Dumar said that the defense would not be based upon justification of facts. The lawyers said that the statement in the book that Mlle. Blanche was the "preferred rose of the German crown prince" was entirely true.

The friendship between the German and Mlle. Blanche then was explained by lawyers for the plaintiff. Blanche met the ex-crown prince when he visited her mother's store. The German's eye, ever on the alert for vivacious femininity, was caught by the beautiful girl. He laughed and joked with her. But the lawyer declared that the relations between the two were always pure.

Mlle. Blanche was the chief center of interest among the big crowd which jammed the courtroom, despite the sweltering weather.

A number of witnesses were summoned and the trial probably will last several days.

SCORES OF HOMES ARE SWEEPED AWAY WHEN STORMS HIT WEST

Four Dead in Colorado As Floods Inundate Thousands Of Acres Of Rich Farming Land—Pueblo Shut Off From Outside Communication.

Denver, Colo., June 4.—Four lives are known to be lost, scores of homes have been swept away, railroad tracks washed out and property damage amounting to millions has resulted today from floods caused by unprecedented rains and numerous cloud bursts in various parts of Colorado.

Thousands of acres of rich farming land have been inundated in the agricultural sections.

Pueblo is completely cut off from outside communications. Latest reports from that city at midnight said the business district was under several feet of water. Police and volunteer national guardsmen were patrolling the streets and aiding hundreds of families in seeking safety from homes that were inundated by the waters of the Arkansas and Fountain rivers.

Numerous fires were raging in the city, but it was believed the heavy rainfall since midnight would aid in quenching the flames. Property damage in Pueblo was placed as high as $2,500,000. Two persons were known to have been drowned and fear was expressed that several others had lost their lives.

Mrs. Carl Willard and a small baby were drowned when the waters of Pawnee creek overtook them at Sterling. Hundreds of autoists are marooned in the vicinity of Boulder and many homes have been destroyed.

In Loveland, the citizens worked feverishly all night to save the town from destruction when the high waters from irrigation ditches swept down through the city streets.

The heavy rains continued early today it was expected further reports of heavy damage would be received when communication was restored.

Damage from the storm in Denver was only slight.

At 9 o'clock this morning, telephone and telegraph wires were down in practically all sections of the state and only meager reports were available of conditions in the territory between Denver and Boulder where the floods were causing the greatest damage.

At Marshall 25 miles north of Denver, the entire population was prepared to flee at a moment's notice because of fear that the dam of a huge reservoir impounding a lake 800 acres in area would give way.

The dam had been reported growing weaker during the night and men with bombs were stationed near it to warn the people if the threatened deluge started.

Thousands of cattle were drowned and scores of bridges swept away in the district around Louisville, Lafayette and Brookfield on the Denver-Boulder road. Railroad traffic and interurban cars were stalled when miles of track were washed out.

Rescuers worked all night in these districts aiding families of ranchers to reach safety on high ground.

Colorado Springs, Canon City, Florence and other towns south of Pueblo were without lighting systems and street car services as a result of the power plants being flooded and water was running through the business and residential streets of these cities.

Denver, Colo., June 4.—Ten million dollars is the estimate today of losses already caused by storms, flood and fires that swept wide areas of Colorado yesterday and early this morning. Loss of growing crops inundated farm lands and property damage is the greatest since the disastrous flood of 1894.

Seven lives are known to have been lost and fear is expressed, that many missing persons have met death in the swift currents of the rivers, creeks and dams that overflowed their banks.

HEAVY TOLL TAKEN REPORTS INDICATE

Denver, Colo., June 4.—At 10 o'clock this morning rumors were circulated in this city, that there had been heavy toll in the flood and fires at Pueblo.

COMMENCEMENT

Commencement is a word that conveys a great meaning to those who participate in graduation as it impresses strongly upon their minds that they have reached the end of their education, if they enter directly into the business world, or that they have practically finished and reached a point of life decision if they enter college. It is a reminder to them of the end of a long struggle in their youth, yet only the start of the really hard fight for success in their life career.

Thus is commencement a pretty serious reminder of our past year's grade and high school work. We may look back at these years and think over the work we have completed whether we made the best of it to our own advantage or wasted it away, making it almost a detriment instead of a help. Or should we consider though as to whether his is true in either case, we will find to our pleasure that we have not really wasted it but made use of it, for could we have attained the present peak without a hard struggle and grasping of knowledge? So say our Seniors at the moment they receive their diplomas have a feeling of satisfaction that they have brought to an end a successful term of school life.

JUNIOR HIGH NEWS

Junior High's exhibition on last Friday was the best its patrons had ever seen.

The Sewing exhibition was very interesting. The girls of the Eighth made dresses and hats while we sewed, being merely beginners displayed "smocks" "towels" and many other useful things.

Mrs. Wolf's cooking exhibition looked very appetizing and as different passersby looked at the various dishes of cookery on display I am sure they felt like they hadn't had a square meal all year.

The Manual training departments had many useful as well as artistic pieces of furniture on display. The other rooms were prettily decorated having scrap books, compositions and other articles of work on exhibition.

Junior High was dismissed an hour earlier Friday afternoon. I am sure the pupils and teachers should receive credit for their hard work in the past in making the exhibition a success.

The Auditorium has just been repainted and we are all proud of it. The class of '21 will be the first to graduate from the auditorium since it was redecorated.

Numerous hikes and picnics are being enjoyed by the members of Junior High lately. SA is planning one at present.

SIXTY EIGHT WILL RECEIVE DIPLOMAS OF GRADUATION EVENING OF JUNE 14

On the evening of June 14, 1921, at eight o'clock the fifty-sixth commencement of the Central High School will be held at the First Methodist Church. After four years of work and play the 68 members of the Senior Class will on this eventful evening gain the much coveted title of alumnus—or alumna as the case may be.

The class of '21 is nothing if not original and it will show its originality on commencement night as it has in past history. These enterprising Seniors have altogether done away with class orations and orators, and instead of listening in painted suspense, fearing but hoping against hope that "no one will forget his piece," the audience on June 14th will be able to sit at ease and listen to a flow of eloquent and humorous from one of the best lecturers on the country. Dr. Roscoe Gilmore Stott, Dr. Stott appeared before a Xenia audience last summer at the Chautauqua and his lecture was considered the best feature of the week. He is not only a famous Lyceum and Chautauqua lecturer but also a regular contributor to current magazines among which are the Ladies' Home Journal and Woman's Home Companion. The subject of his address for commencement night is "Dying on Third," which is considered one of the best commencement lectures ever produced. Xenia should feel especially honored because Dr. Stott refused a request to speak at one of the largest High Schools in Pittsburgh that he might come to our fair city.

Needless to say the class of '21 has a great deal of musical talent so the attending public will be treated to several selections sung by a chorus of senior girls. This chorus is being trained by Miss Haynes whose record in training bespeaks a treat for all who come to hear.

Altogether the commencement is expected to surpass any other commencement in the annals of the school.

The honor pupils will not be announced until that night when they will lead the class in receiving their diplomas.

The class roll is as follows:

Reba Anders, Leslie Bailey, Lawrence Barnes, Nelson Barnes, Carl Beals, Martha Beam, Myrtle Bickett, Mary Birch, Martha Bryson, Mamie Burrell, Millard Burrell, Forest Casad, Lucile Chambliss, Donald Chitty, Ora Collins, Richard Considine, Olivia Cost, Eunice Cowen, Pearl Cowen, Eva Crumley, John Curlett, Eula Custis, William Davidson, Margaret Dodds, Elizabeth Dodds, Ralph Dones, Marjorie Gault, Katherine Evans, Martha Finley, Lelia Fudge, Josephine Pulling, Betty Holman, Ada Hoping, Kenneth Hudson, Ersie Hutchison, Georgia Jenner, Gertrude Jones, Mildred Jones, Tom Kennedy, Marion Kyle, Clark Lackey, William LeSourd, Frances Loyd, Marie Meahl, Lewis McCoy, John Moore, Philip Moore, Elmer Owens, Virginia Phillips, Emile Pitts, Harold Ray, Charles Robinson, Sabina Ross, Eleanor Rountzong, Cora Saunders, Eleanor Simson, Floyd Smith, Reva Spahr, Jean Strong, Cathryn Uhl, Jessiemae Uhl, David Wead, Margaret Webster, Doris Whittington, Ruth Whittington and John Wolford.

Miss Lane arrived in state, attended by Pauline Sutton, chauffeur, and Elizabeth McCormick, footman. Arriving at the home of the hostess she was met at the door by a dainty French maid, Katherine Lane. The girls wore the dresses they made under Miss Lane's supervision. After delightful four course dinner, the rest of the evening was spent in dancing. Those who enjoyed this affair were: Miss Lane, guest of honor; Beatrice Stiff, Katherine Lane, Pauline Sutton, Ruth Clouse, Elizabeth McCormick, Virginia Ralls, Theda Downing, Florence Chew, Louise Barnett, and Irene Parrett.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BIG PICNIC MADE

During the year the upperclassmen have not had the chance to mingle socially with the students of the lower classes. In order to reunite the classes for the High School social this year, it has been arranged to hold a High School picnic including all classes at Kil Kare, Thursday, June 9. Many arrangements have been made to make the picnic a success.

The boys of the High School will secure the park and the girls are to furnish the "eats". Games and contests will be the amusements of the afternoon and dancing will be the chief attraction of the evening. McKays' Orchestra from Wilmington furnishing the music.

NEW COACH FOR HIGH SCHOOL IS ANNOUNCED

Jerry L. Katherman, a graduate of Ohio Northern University, Ada, has been selected coach of athletics at Central High next year. He comes well recommended and is a personal friend of Supt. Waltz.

He weighs 195 pounds and is six feet tall and has played three years of college football. He has played under the direction of Coach Bolan one of the best coaches. Coach Bolan says Katherman is one of the best football players he has ever turned out. Besides being Central High's regular coach he will also teach Chemistry and physics.

Mr. Katherman visited here last week and met a few of the football players. Captain McCallister of next year's football team got the fellows coming out for football next year together. They held their meeting at the school house and discussed a few plans for the coming football season and had a good time getting acquainted with the new coach. He gave a short talk to those present and asked every one to keep in training all summer and be ready for football at the opening season. He also suggested that all football candidates if possible should go to some camp about a week or two before school opens and get a lot of good training. Several of the football members had a few minutes talk with the new coach and all voted him a good sportman and think that he ought to make a good coach.

FAREWELL

Dear teachers and schoolmates, now we must part, Our school days with you are o'er; The Senior class with their green and white You will see in your class rooms no more.

VISITS IN COLUMBUS

On Decoration Day a crowd of Central High School Students held a picnic at Snider Park in Springfield. The crowd motored to Clifton first, but on account of the immense throng of people there, they went on to Springfield where they found a wonderful spot in Snider Park just right for a picnic. After riding through the park the supper was prepared and as is always the case where High School people are concerned, full justice was done the meal.

After enjoying Snider Park for several hours the merry ones started homeward but got only as far as Bryan Park, where the strains of Jazz music reached their ears and tempted them to stop and enjoy the dancing there for a few hours. Towards the wee hours of the morning the merry crowd journeyed each to his home.

WOMAN WANTS TO BE MAYOR OF BELLEFONTAINE

Bellefontaine, June 14.—Bellefontaine may have a woman mayor after the next city election. If she has not it will not be the fault of Mrs. Maggie Watson Ginn, at present a member of the school board, for she has already declared her intention to make a fight for the election and has filed a declaration of candidacy. The present incumbent Mayor George Dowell, does not want the job again.

In a statement to the women and men voters of Bellefontaine Mrs. Ginn said:

"After long deliberation, I have decided to announce my name as a candidate for mayor subject to the Republican primary.

"I cannot claim any great wisdom or knowledge in asking for the nomination. If I should be fortunate enough to attain my aims, I can only promise that my mistakes will be those of ignorance, not of intention.

"It will be impossible to conduct my campaign along established lines. It would only be wasting my time and yours, as you will vote as you wish any way and why bore you?"

BLASTING IN RIVER DAMAGES RESIDENCE IN TROY; MAY SUE

Troy, June 4.—Damage suits against the Miami Conservancy district and the contracting firm doing the work on the north side of the river are likely to result from the excessive charges used in blasting Wednesday afternoon, when a number of persons on West Water Street had narrow escapes from being seriously injured and one or more houses were damaged.

A large rock was hurled through the roof of George Daugherty's residence and shattered a lamp belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Erter, who occupy the east side of the house.

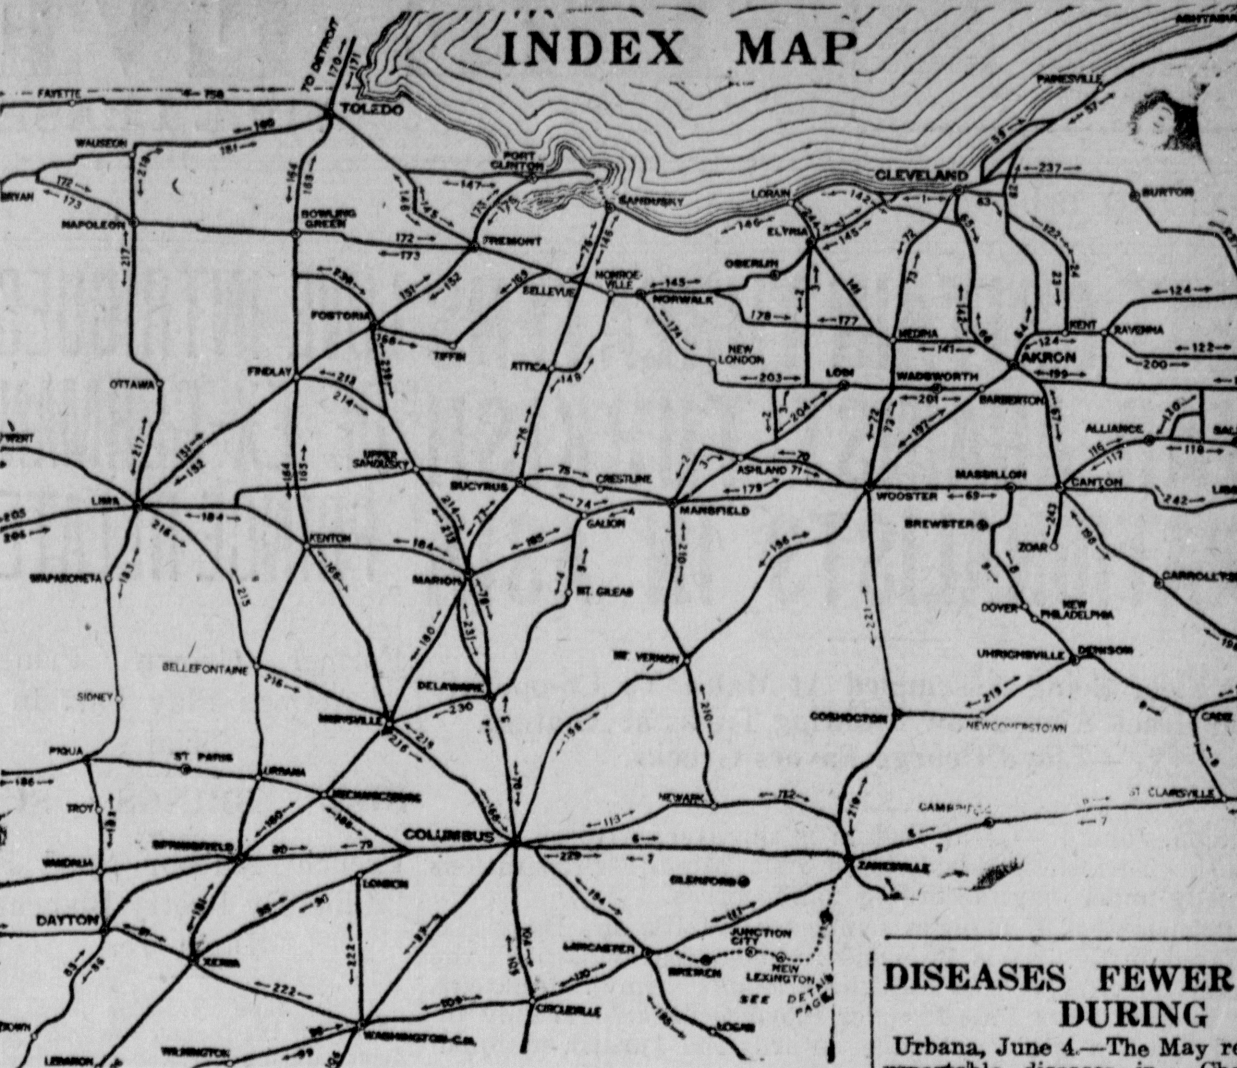

Another rock crashed into the building occupied by W. H. Brandon, the second hand furniture dealer, and passed within a short distance from where he was at work.

Two window panes at the residence of Dr. Van S. Deaton were shattered. A number of complaints have been made with the police relative to the blasting.

EXPECT TO OPEN

Columbus, June 3.—That Ohio farmers may open cooperative commission firms in Cincinnati, Cleveland and Pittsburgh is the expectation of a number of agricultural leaders of the Buckeye state. "SEE OHIO FIRST," MOVEMENT LAUNCHED BY STATE AUTO CLUBS

The mecca of touring is to be Ohio, if the plans of the Good Roads Board of the Ohio State Automobile Association meet with success.

"We have always been a gateway state," explains Raymond Beck, chairman of the Good Roads Board. "Although we have our own Berkshires, our White and Green Mountain district in the southeastern section, a multiplicity of resorts, fashionable playgrounds and lakes abundant yet the wanderlust of Ohio tourists often seeks other states."

"Ohio can and will be made a popular touring center. Tourists from other states, fishermen, lovers of nature, artists all have their opportunity here. Scenic Ohio is in reality a touring ground to fit the needs and purse-strings of every motor tourist."

The Automobile Association is publishing a detailed route book of Ohio for the purpose of guiding tourists, this book giving detailed information as to the main traveled routes of the state and the best connections to and from the larger centers. Over 100 auto maps are contained in the book as well as 300 popular tours.

The "Auto Routes of Ohio" as the book is called, will be distributed by all of the sixty one automobile clubs of Ohio affiliated with the state Association.

The Greene County Automobile Club now has one of these books and will order them for any members who desire a copy, at the apiece the price charged by the State Association. The book is said to take the place of the Blue Book in Ohio and is much cheaper.

During the summer months the State Automobile Association will distribute accurate and detailed road reports from its headquarters at Columbus, which will assist not only Ohio motorists but all visiting tourists.

SAY BERRY CROP WILL BE HEAVY

Persons motoring through the hills of Ross and Highland counties, as well as in the other hill counties, declare that prospects for a bumper black berry crop were never brighter, and that the berries are some ten days to two weeks earlier than usual.

Unusually at this period of the year the briars are covered with blossoms but at the present time the blossoms, have all but disappeared and the briars are laden with berries which will begin to ripen late in June.

BETTERING YOUR SCORE

Dear Mr. Evans: There must be something wrong with the present methods of teaching golf. There is so much to think about—if you follow instructions—that each shot takes on the solemnness of a Supreme Court Session. I have been told to look at the ground behind the ball for topping, to keep the head still, left arm horizontal at top of swing and right the same at end of swing; to hold club tight with left hand and only guide it with the right, etc.

All this and more makes golf hard work. Don't you think it would be much better to just be natural and try to hit the ball hard every time, leaving the good form for the fellows who are not satisfied with anything over eighty? I am mired, throw me a tow-line if you can.

George B.

The above letter embodies an interesting and practical question. I have listened to golf instructions by the hour and watched the poor pupil working away and trying with wrinkled brow to keep in mind all the things he has been told. As I watched the futile efforts I have often wondered just how I would go about teaching a beginner for my personal acquaintance with the game was acquired in an entirely different manner, for I learned my game as a boy by observation and imitation, and my various faults I have tried gradually to correct.

I am convinced that there is too much detail in teaching. We all ought to know the underlying principles but detail varies with the physical conformation. It is all nonsense to try to have tightening sensations in the left hand, to remember to keep your head so absolute still and the various other things that are so constantly recommended. Furthermore it is almost impossible. Just grip the club with your fingers as it falls in your hand and if you keep your eye on the ball your head will be still. It is best to be as natural as possible and get up and hit the ball, with thought, of course, but with a certain abandon, too. The golf swing is a rhythmic stroke and the rhythm is spoiled by too many jerky ideas.

Golf, of course, is a difficult game and even the best players have their own rule, but the whole thing is a process of elimination and you can't have the rules most helpful to the never achieved a good swing by following a ball carelessly.

My definite idea in my

CAMPAIGN WORKERS FOR ANTIOCH WILL BEGIN ACTUAL WORK OF SOLICITATION MONDAY IN GREENE COUNTY SECTION

Campaign workers in the financial drive for Antioch college will begin their program of solicitation in this city Monday, according to the announcement of Mrs. C. H. Little, general chairman.

The campaign period actually began last Thursday and meetings of the workers have aided in getting the organization perfected for the actual work of solicitation.

One generous donation to the College fund has already been received, it is announced, the donor's name not yet being given out. President Arthur E. Morgan, of the college, is also said to have received encouragement when he called on several people here, Thursday, and explained the purpose of the campaign fund.

The campaign in Xenia is part of the general campaign to raise $450,000 in the Miami Valley. Its purpose is to make of Antioch College a real, live educational institution, offering a new but well endorsed plan of practical education for the youth of the nation, in which plan it is practically a pioneer, as it was in all educational lines in this section when founded by Horace Mann.

In the new Antioch, eminent educators of the country force the consummation of the latest development in educational lines, and one that is heartily endorsed as the real, advantageous type of college course.

This explains the hearty co-operation that has greeted the efforts of the solicitors in other places in the valley so far, and predicts for Antioch a fund that will enable it to carry out the plans of its backers, for one of the best colleges in this section.

PUBLIC WELFARE DEPARTMENT NOW DOOMED IS BELIEF

Washington, June 4.—Despite heroic efforts on the part of the administration to save it, it appeared today that the legislation for the creation of the department of public welfare, with a cabinet officer at the head of it was doomed to defeat.

The establishment of this new department and the consolidation therein of a dozen minor government bureaus, was one of President Harding's first and foremost campaign pledges. It also constituted one of the big features of the administration program for federal reorganization in Washington and the administration leaders are extremely loath to see it on the legislative skirts apparently headed for oblivion.

Friends and supporters of the bill are making strenuous efforts to keep it alive, but success of their efforts appeared doubtful today.

Opposition to the bill has sprung from many sources.

Much of the opposition to the bill comes from within the Republican ranks. To some of the Republican leaders, the idea of a woman sitting in the cabinet is an anathema.

The jealousy of those now in control of minor bureaus that would be affected by the merger also is a potent factor.

Under the bill as proposed, the most important of the bureaus consolidated would be the department of public health and the department of education.

"PORK BARREL" METHOD CARRIES THE NAVY BILL THROUGH THE SENATE.

In spite of threats their votes would return some day to plague them, Senators on Wednesday approved the $500,000,000 naval appropriation bill after rejecting every effort looking to economy. The vote for passage was 54 to 1, after a motion to recommit the bill to the Naval Affairs Committee with instructions to reduce by $100,000,000 to approximately the amount of the House bill, was voted down, 25 to 43.

It was stated by competent House leaders that nothing short of greater appropriations and not to economy, and all the statements about decreases in departmental estimates are the merest chaff. This year's Senate appropriations are $60,000,000 greater than those of 1920, despite President Harding's plea for a "return to normalcy," even though Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has stated officially the "Nation cannot continue spending at this shocking rate."

It was stated by competent House leaders that nothing short of actual pressure by President Harding in favor of the Senate increases will force the House to yield. Thus far the President has refrained studiously from mixing in the quarrel between the two branches of Congress, but Senate leaders are looking to him for assistance.

Should the President refrain from participation in the quarrel over economy, the House leaders insist they are prepared to fight all summer against the extravagance of the Senate bills, but if the story of the past may be taken as a forecast of the future the Senate will have its way in the end, as the champions of big appropriations always do.

Like a well-oiled machine the Senate's noble order of the log-roller went through with every detail of the "pork-barrel" program which was foretold.

PERHAPS A NEW GOVERNOR FOR ALASKA MAY BETTER THINGS THERE.

Scott C. Bone, a former Sattle publisher, and who was publicity manager for the Republican National Committee in the 1920 campaign, was nominated Wednesday by President Harding to be Governor of Alaska.

Mr. Bone formerly was editor-in-chief of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and for a time was chairman of the Alaska Bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce. While serving in that capacity he made an extensive tour of Alaska.

One of the considerations which, it is understood, caused President Harding to make the appointment is Mr. Bone's wide experience with problems of newsprint paper and wood pulp, which industries the Administration expects to develop extensively from the Alaskan raw materials.

The nomination of Jacob Gould Schurman, formerly president of Cornell University, to be Minister to China was ordered favorably reported to the Senate by the Foreign Relations Committee Wednesday.

FAMOUS AMERICANS.

The New York Hall of Fame has admitted to its sacred precincts twenty-six more departed Americans, all of whom may be as illustrious as the board of electors think they are, but most of whom the average newspaper reader never heard of, and who are therefore negligible as far as public approval is concerned.

The self-constituted arbiters of fame have indeed done well in taking in such celebrities as Alexander Hamilton, Patrick Henry, Daniel Boone, Mark Twain, Saint-Gaudens and Edgar Allen Poe, though the tardiness and reluctance shown in several of these cases afford ground for a severe arraignment of the electors and their standards of choice. It seems absurd that Mark Twain should have had to wait eleven years, and still more so that Poe should have waited three-quarters of a century for such recognition.

To be sure, there was no marble Hall of Fame until many years after Poe's death, but a mere citizen and lover of literature would have supposed that the electors of this institution, in such a case, would have started in immediately to make up for lost time. They are making some progress, though.

But what is fame, anyway? Since questionnaires are the order of the day, it might be a good thing to have a national inquiry on that point, with an invitation to the answerers to furnish names illustrating their own theory. It might be confusing, but the general public would probably come nearer right than any small group of specialists. The American people surely ought to know what Americans are famous, and no Hall of Fame will ever amount to much which does not let the public—which is the bestower and the repository of fame—do its own choosing.

A MONEY SAVER.

Few people appreciate the actual money saving to them made possible by their telephone. An investigation of the subject, recently, took farmers as an example. In order to determine the saving to the farmer the very low figure of 5 cents per mile was allowed for his time and cost of transportation were he to attempt to do the same work as his telephone. Subscriber No. 1, farming 160 acres, had 39 business calls in the month which would have consumed traveling 153 miles had he been forced to make the trips in person. This, at 5 cents a mile, amounted to $7.65. Subscriber No. 2, farming 320 acres, had 70 business calls, which would have totaled 216 miles, and computed the same way, his cost would have been $10.80. Subscriber No. 3, farming 906 acres, had 91 business calls, the mileage of which would have totaled 444 miles, and computed at 5 cents a mile would have amounted to $22.20.

In each case actual experiences of the three farmers

Is It Yours?

Garnet Wolseley.
June 4, 1833
Viscount Wolseley, British Field Marshal was born in Ireland in 1833 and went into the army when he was 19 years old. He had an adventurous disposition and soon was able to satisfy his taste for thrills, for he was sent out in the second Burmese war, was severely wounded in an attack, was mentioned in dispatches, received the War Medal promoted to be Lieutenant and invalided home, all by the time he was 20. A few months later he was out with the troops in Crimea, was again wounded, was much talked of for his bravery and received several medals.

He went at it again in China and in India, was talked of still more and received some more medals. He went back to China again where he received still another medal for his services and finally went back home to write the story of his experiences. By this time he was 27 years old.

A year later he was sent to Canada and some year later to Africa where he distinguished himself to so great an extent that his name became a household word. Parliament voted him $125,000, made him a Major General, gave him a lot of letters after his name and the freedom of the City of London.

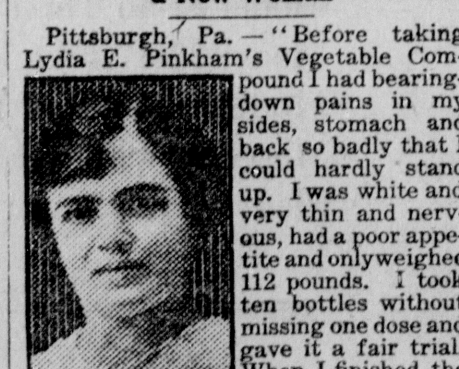

Still not content, Wolseley fought in Egypt so well that he received more medals, more honors and was made a Lord. He continued his active life even after this, and during his periods of leisure he wrote a history of Napoleon and many other books on historical and military subjects.

WHAT MADE THE CHANGE?

This Woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a New Woman

Pittsburgh, Pa. — "Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had bearing-down pains in my sides, stomach and back so badly that I could hardly stand up. I was white and very thin and nervous, had a poor appetite and only weighed 112 pounds. I took ten bottles without missing one dose and gave it a fair trial. When I finished the last bottle everyone asked me what made the wonderful change in me. I told them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I recommended it wherever I can. I give you permission to publish this letter to help suffering women as your remedies are a godsend and made a new woman of me." — Mrs. F. A. BAKER, 4749 Butler St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Why will women drag around day after day, suffering from backaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness and "the blues," enduring a miserable existence when they have such evidence as the above that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable remedy for such troubles. For nearly forty years this grand old root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength.

AN EDITORIAL ON ADVERTISING

The factories are re-opening. Men are going back to their jobs again.

Building and buying soon will resume their normal activity. Contentment will supplant unrest throughout the land.

All to a large degree because throughout this period of slackness and stagnation one force has remained hopefully on the job.

Do you know what that force is? It is Advertising!

We will refrain from emphasizing as we justly might, Advertising's direct services to the public in lowering the price of goods, maintaining quality among products, and promoting correct, convenient, valuable buyer-knowledge.

We will overlook for the moment Advertising's powerful contribution as a sales factor to the individual success of the Business that employs it.

These things are generally known and realized. They need no particular urging to arouse recognition in the public mind.

The great and outstanding fact for laymen and advertising men to grasp now is that Advertising, by its own demonstration, is a valuable and vital factor in the promotion of the whole national good.

No man is outside its sphere of influence. It embraces all and affects all.

The layman accustomed to look doubtfully or indifferently upon Advertising as an instrumentality solely for the benefit of the fortunate few, now suddenly sees it as a power intimately and inseparably linked with himself and his own interests.

This young and vigorous force has helped lift Business back into the saddle, the worker back into his job.

Advertising has kept alive hope. It has shamed and shattered pessimism. It has encouraged industry, fostered the gradual recovery of the buying impulse, and at last created a firm market.

Now it will go forward to assist in the development of Good Business and in the restoration of satisfactory political and economic conditions throughout the country.

Every man, high or low, who looks out of a period of depression into a prosperous and progressive future, should have a surface knowledge at least of the force that has helped greatly to work the change, and thank —Advertising!

You may have realized how the editorial columns of newspapers have helped form public opinion. Think then of their advertising columns as great forces working for business prosperity.

AN ADVERTISEMENT HELPED HER

Mrs. Lucille Mackey, 16 Buena Vista St., Washington, Pa., writes: "Last winter my 3-year-old girl caught a bad cold which left her with a dry cough. It bothered her most at night and she would cough until she vomited. I think she must have had whooping cough. I saw an advertisement for Poley's Honey and Tar. I tried it and bought two bottles and her cough left her before she finished the second bottle. She had gotten awfully thin but now she is as fat as ever." Sayre & Hemphill.

Practical Business Talks

READ THE NEWSPAPER.

Young men in business should learn how to read their daily newspaper so that they may get as much business information out of it as possible.

The stock market tabulations are read by those interested in investments or speculation. They are read, also, by many other people who have no thought of either.

The stock tables are not only business barometers but from a study of these tables one may often accurately forecast future changes in general business activity.

Some of the shrewdest business minds in the world are engaged in stock exchange transactions. The future is discounted by these financial wizards and so the keen observer of stock sales can often gauge the future of his own business three months or more in advance.

If he notes that stock prices are steadily climbing he is more or less justified in believing that within three or four months the "boom" will have extended to practically all lines of business. If the stock market registers a steady decline, he heeds the warning and prepares for an approaching period of retrenchment no matter how rosy the outlook may seem otherwise.

Then again, the business man should watch the want ad columns for valuable business information. The real estate advertising will keep him posted on realty prices and trends, the "rental" advertising indicates the presence or absence of numbers of the floating population, the "employment" department shows him prevailing market for labor and rates of wages or salaries being paid at the moment.

"A man is but what he knoweth," said Bacon, and a business man climbs in the world of trade and industry by the accuracy of his information. He must watch the signs of the times just as the weather expert carefully examines each cloud in the changing sky.

The daily newspaper is of inestimable value to the business man who learns how to read it so that he gets from it the information he needs.

LONG AGO.

When I was young the women wore great spreading gowns that swept the floor and gathered dirt and leaves; that raiment of a bygone day is out of date and done away, and how my spirit grieves! The sidewalks now are just a sight, with rubbish lying left and right, an eye-sore and a crime; the women's dresses do not sweep the refuse and the garbage heap as in the saintly time. When I was young a damsel wept if peradventure, when she stepped, her ankles she displayed; she knew the gossips all would hoot and give to her a wide reputation as bold and naughty maid. And now such modesty is lost; the old ideas are a frost, a roorback and a jest; the well turned ankle is a sight that gives artistic souls delight, and soothes the savage breast. When I was young the woman laced until she had an insect's waist, a fragile thing to view; you'd think that if a zephyr came and caught her fairly on the frame, she'd surely break in two. And now the ladies in our grad have waists like Mrs. Venus had, an armful, more or less; and, I am told, they do not feel the armor plate of bone and steel that used to cause distress. And so, although we yip and bray about the fashions of the day, and say they make us sore, although the modern styles we curse, it may be that old things were worse than those we now deplore.

FAIRFIELD MAY BE PLACED ON AIR ROUTE NOW CONTEMPLATED BETWEEN PITTSBURGH AND INDIANAPOLIS

Centralized control of air service, with the establishment of fixed air routes, being agitated by air service officials of the U. S. Army, will probably place Fairfield, the location of Wilbur Wright Aviation Field as one of the routes from Pittsburgh to Indianapolis.

The proposed routes include the establishment of five air ways, four of them to follow the boundaries of the United States while the fifth would cross the continent about midway between the north and south lines of the country, crossing Ohio from Pittsburgh to Indianapolis, via Columbus, Springfield and Dayton, with the stop at Fairfield.

The proposed airway along the Pacific coast extends from Seattle to San Diego with fully equipped landing, repair and field stations at Portland, Eugene, Ashland, Redding, San Francisco, Mercer, Fresno, Bakersfield, and Los Angeles. The eastern routes connect Portland, Me., with Key West, through Portsmouth, Boston, New Bedford, New London, Mineola, Washington, Winston, Salem, Raleigh, Wilmington, Columbia, Maxon, Charleston, Savannah, Tampa, Arcadia and Miami.

The southern route would follow the Mexican border from San Diego to Brownsville, thence to San Antonio and Galveston and along the Gulf coast to New Orleans, Montgomery and Savannah. The northern route of the tentative arrangements begins at Birmingham, N. Y., with the junction of the lines from Boston and Mineola and continues to Spokane through Buffalo, Cleveland, LaCrosse, Minneapolis, Bismarck, Billings, Helena and Missoula. The central route, picking up from the Atlantic coast at Washington terminates at San Francisco, passing through Pittsburgh, Columbus, Springfield, Dayton, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Topeka, Cheyenne, Rawlins, Green River, Salt Lake City and Reno.

The establishment of such air routes, with the possibility of having a fully equipped landing, repair and fuel station at Wright Field, Fairfield, would greatly increase the importance of that air station, and therefore this district also as the military routes, will probably do much to determine the routes to be taken by commercial lines in the future.

Brigadier General William Mitchell, one of the advocates of the air route plan says: "If aviation is to be a national asset a ground organization must be provided. The greatest deterrent today to commercial aviation development is the lack of grounds and organization throughout the country, with provisions of stations for landing refueling and refitting. If these air routes are properly marked, provided with meteorological aids, with a system of communication from one to the other, with radio and light aids to navigation with gas and oil stations, with expert mechanics and with ordinary spare parts in each, airplane service can be maintained at least 25 per cent cheaper and with an infinitely greater degree of safety.

The accident at Indian Head last Saturday has served in a great measure to arouse action regarding the establishment of a better system of air travel.

ABSOLUTE POWER OF ADVERTISING DEMONSTRATED IN DECISIVE MANNER

Two restaurant men of New York City have demonstrated in the past year the absolute power of advertising so conclusively that the story is worth repeating and for the sake of clearness we will call them King and Culver.

It is considerably over a year ago since the partners leased a very valuable piece of property in a semi-residential section of the city with a view to opening a cafeteria. The building is old fashioned, high ceiling large rooms and is within a block of one of the city's biggest High Schools. King and Culver looked over the situation carefully, as they thought, and decided the plan was a good one and sure to be successful despite the fact that the business section (about six blocks away) was filled with "beaneries" of one sort or another. They both worked like fury to get their place in order then one day a friend wife Culver strolled in.

"Wonderful old house" she remarked, "but did either of you happen to take a walk around the block? There is a cafeteria there. The place is attractive, the cooking's good. I know because I've just had a lunch there and their prices are reasonable."

King and Culver look at each other, then Culver asked his better half: "Is it new?"

"Been there about two years the letter carrier told me. The girl who cleared off my table said business is never very good. People don't want to come so far from the business section, the school has a lunch room and most of the teachers bring theirs from home. The residents had rather go uptown for a meal or prepare it in their apartments," Mrs. Culver explained. During her recital the partners sat down; King was the first to get his wind.

"Fellow's been there two years, funny we didn't see the place before. It isn't very conspicuous. They have a nice black sign with gold lettering over the door. I don't know

THIEF CAUGHT IN MIAMI COUNTY GETS TEN YEARS

West Milton, June 4.—George Brown, who made such a sensational escape from the Covington, Ky., jail, after he and John Horn had been arrested near West Milton on June 18, 1920 on a charge of robbing the Tobacco Growers Deposit Bank, of Crittendon, Ky., is now serving 10 year sentence in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

Brown was arrested a few days ago by federal officers in Memphis, Tenn., on a charge of robbing a bank and he entered a plea of guilty. Horn is still at Liberty.

Both men were arrested north of West Milton, after they had attacked County Auditor T. B. Radabaugh and his party, who were en route to West Milton from Troy. At first the men pretended to be drunk, but on investigation disclosed that their car contained a number of things which indicated that they had robbed a bank.

PHILADELPHIA MAN ANNOYS GIRL; RUNS AFOUL OF POLICE

Piqua, June 4.—Officer Purcell of this city brought John Carton of Philadelphia to the county jail, where he will be held until Judge E. M. Bell of the probate court, can make an investigation of his case.

According to the officer Carton had been away from Piqua for some time, but made his appearance in that city Thursday morning. It is alleged that the man, who is 56 years of age, is in love with a Miss Lillian Miller, who is said to be one of the most beautiful girls in Piqua, and that on Thursday he followed her to where she is employed.

Some time ago Carton was in the spot light when he wrote a pamphlet dealing with Piqua's alleged white slavery, which he circulated extensively.

When arrested Carton had a roll of pills in his possession, but it is the opinion that he is not mentally right.

DAIRYMEN TO ORGANIZE FOR PURPOSE OF CONCENTRATING SALES AT ONE POINT

Greene County Farm Agent Ford S. Prince, went to Dayton, Saturday to attend a meeting of dairymen of the Dayton district, meeting at the Elk's Club there to form an organization.

The State is now divided into 22 districts, as regards milk producers, and the districts being formed around the larger cities. The Dayton District includes Montgomery, Greene, and Clark counties and parts of Miami, Preble and Warren.

It is planned to form an organization similar to the Northwestern Ohio Milk Producing Association, and to inaugurate a plan of selling through one office.

Next Thursday, Mr. Prince will attend a conference of County Agents of Southwestern Ohio to be held in Cincinnati. At that meeting plans and methods of farm bureau work will be discussed and a general round table held.

ELEVEN SPEAKERS ARE ADDED TO INSTITUTE FORCES

The list of farmers' institute speakers for next season carries eleven new names. These are Paul Gerlaugh, Columbus; Spencer Harrod, Harrod; Clyde Hooley, Columbus; L. L. Rummer, Medina; Dillwyn Stratton, Winona; C. S. Vickers, Columbus; Mrs. Dora Sandoe Bachman, Columbus; Mrs. Mabelle Hester, Norfolk; Mrs. Della Hill Snodgrass, Xenia; Mrs. Ida A. Wheeler, Centerville; H. P. Curtis, Little Hocking. The entire list of speakers numbers 46.

These speakers will discuss problems of production, farm and home management, and marketing. An addition to these topics new features to be stressed include a discussion of the basic principles upon which a just and equitable system of taxation should be based, and the needs of Ohio's highways and her highway laws.

HOW TO CONTROL THE ASPARAGUS BEETLE IS TOLD

Young asparagus beds are often seriously attacked by beetles at this season of the year. The damage consists in the destruction of leaf parts, thus reducing the plant's capacity to store plant food in the fleshy roots. This food storage is essential to the production of edible stalks the following season. Control of the beetles may be effected by the use of a dust applied early in the morning when the plants are moist. A mixture of 20 parts of weight of hydrated or air-slaked lime, and one part of dry arsenate of lead freely dusted over the plants through a coarsely woven sack or a dust sprayer will repel or destroy the beetles in both adult and larval stages.

North of the central part of the State the prospect for apples improves, owing to the fact that the blossoms were not so far advanced during freezes of April and the cold weather which followed.

From present prospects peaches and grapes will be found in quantities only along the shore of Lake Erie where the buds were retarded by the influence of the lake. Cherries, pears and plums are nearly a complete failure over the entire state.

The crop of tree fruits and grapes for Ohio appears at present to be: Apples 25 per cent; cherries 5 per cent; plums 5 per cent; pears 5 per cent; peaches 25 per cent, and confined to the lake and island districts, grapes 50 per cent.

ENROLLMENT IN BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS INCREASES

The enrollment in the Boys' and Girls' Clubs indicates an increased interest in this type of extension work. Over 10,000 boys and girls from 80 counties have enrolled to date in the various club projects. The majority of the boys and girls are organized into groups under the supervision of local leaders and are holding regular meetings. The heaviest enrollment is in the food and pig clubs. An increased interest is manifested in corn pig and sheep clubs. A number of the members are using certified seed.

TROUBLED FOR TEN YEARS

If you suffer pains and aches during the day and sleep-disturbing bladder weakness by night, feel tired, nervous and run down, the kidneys and bladder need to be restored to healthy and regular action. J. T. Osburn R. F. D. No. 1, Lucasville, O., writes: "I had kidney trouble for ten years. I tried many remedies but they did me no good. I took Foley Kidney Pills and they helped me so much that now I am well." Don't delay Sayre & Hemphill. adv

RECEIVES LETTER SIGNED BY MAN KILLED WEEK AGO

Secretary F. J. Slackford, of the Greene County Automobile Club, received a letter from a dead man Saturday morning.

A communication from the American Automobile Association to the local organization, was signed personally by A. G. Batchelder, who was in command of the airplane wrecked at Indian Head last Saturday, when the crew was killed. Mr. Batchelder was also executive chairman of the American Automobile Association, and in that capacity had just signed the letters sent out to the auto clubs shortly before going on the fatal flight. After it was signed, a footnote was added by D. Jameson, acting president of the A. A. A. in which he said that Mr. Batchelder signed the letter just before starting on the air trip that cost his life.

HEAT CAUSES ROAD TO BLOW UP ON LEESBURG PIKE

Washington, C. H., June 4—During the heat of Tuesday afternoon a section five feet wide and extending entirely across the brick paving "blew up" on the Leesburg pike along the McLean farm, with the result to pass on the beams at the side of the paving.

The blow up came with a dull roar and was due to extraordinary expansion of the road under the blistering rays of the sun. The entire brick surface for a half mile in both directions crept forward as a result of the blowup.

FLOOD VICTIMS RETURN Peoria, Ill., June 4—Hundreds of persons in Washington, Urbandale and Farndale, forced to flee to safety when Farm Creek, near here, overflowed its banks following a cloud burst, returned to their homes yesterday with the fall of the water.

BRINGING UP FATHER

EARLY RECOVERY OF U. S. INDUSTRY FREELY PREDICTED

Washington, June 3—Rosy predictions of early recovery of American industry and agriculture have as their basis, it developed today, highly optimistic diplomatic reports from abroad, reflecting more favorable world factors in finance and trade of a permanent character. The new factors which give renewed hope for resumption in the near future of foreign trade upon a more normal scale, are significant, officials asserted.

Back of the extraordinary measures adopted by President Harding, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Governor Harding of the federal reserve board, to loosen up the swollen bank reservoirs for the benefit of the oppressed and debt-ridden farmer, is the certain knowledge of high officials that the world demand for American products must soon be resumed.

Accurate reports from all parts of the world today revealed to officials of the federal reserve board, that there has been a gradual depletion of accumulated stocks of American merchandise abroad. The board takes the view that the establishment of new credit facilities will reopen the channels now closed for American products.

The establishment of new credit support for moving American products and assurances to the farmer that he can continue producing at a profit, is now sought by the administration. President Harding soon will resume his conference with middle-western, southern and western financiers.

Official announcement of still lower bank rate reductions in the near future will have a marked effect in further relieving credit strains.

The new cuts are expected before mid-summer. Officials believe they are fully justified by the rising reserve ratio of all of the banks, and by the easier money conditions generally.

Probably the most potent influence in effecting quick relief among the producers in advance of the expected cuts in bank rates, is the action of the administration in forcing a more "liberal" attitude by bankers toward borrowers. Bankers have been cautioned to exercise more generous consideration toward borrowers for legitimate requirements and to refrain from liquidating such obligations. Reports today, indicated that bankers share the optimism of government officials, over future trade recovery and are carrying their customers along for longer periods of pending loans.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT. Breakfast. Apricots. Corned Beef Hash. Browned Toast. Coffee. Luncheon. Codfish Balls. Muffins. Jelly. Relish. Tea or Cocoa. Dinner. Pork Chops Baked with Escalloped Potatoes. Brown Bread. Cabbage or Banana Salad. Peach Shortcake. Tea or Coffee.

RECIPES FOR A DAY. Codfish Balls—Pare and quarter about two quarts potatoes. Put in kettle. Pick up about half a lb. of codfish and put on top of potatoes, cover with boiling water and cook till potatoes are done—about twenty minutes. Drain and wash. Add lumps of butter, salt and pepper to taste. Using a large spoon and knife form into egg shaped balls. Fry in deep fat or brown like potato cakes.

Muffins (One dozen large)—Two and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, sifted together, one egg beaten. Add one-third cup of milk, one-half cup water, two tablespoons melted butter. Bake fifteen to twenty minutes in hot oven. Salad Dressing—Beat two eggs in a bowl, add one-half cup cream (sweet or sour), one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon mustard, five tablespoons vinegar. Cook over steam, stirring often. Add two tablespoons melted butter or oil. When cool thin as needed with cream.

NOVEL USES FOR FRUIT. Fruit Breads—The currants are now much cheaper and can be restored with profit to cakes, puddings and even breads. Of course, they give a more acid fruit flavor to a bread than do raisins, but for a change this may be acceptable, and more sugar may be added if desired, or up to half a cup for three cups of flour. Or parts of the fruit used may be some of the extra sweet products, like candied citron.

TIPS ON COOKING. Meat cut up for stewing gives a richer gravy than when cooked in one piece. It is a good plan to leave one solid piece of meat to slice cold if the supply is sufficient for two meals.

The cold meat should be left in the stock until it is ready to serve, so as to retain the moisture, but any vegetables that are in the stock must be removed, or the flavor will be too strong. Emergency biscuits may be made by slightly increasing the amount of liquid and dropping the dough from a spoon on to a greased baking sheet or into small muffin pans.

In this way time is saved that is otherwise used for rolling and cutting, and the biscuits are more tender. One often puts too much salt in food while cooking it. To remove the salt place a wet cloth over the top of the vessel in which the food is cooking and the steam will draw the salt into the wet cloth.

The Revolt of Vera Sanderson

BY JANE PHELPS.

MARGARET'S MANEUVER SUCCEEDS

Voices from the piazza, where they were sitting floated up to me pleasantly. I hummed a little tune as I dressed, then caught myself. It was heartless of me, perhaps, to be happy when father was so ill. But unconsciously I soon began to hum again. Irene and Gloria heard me and came running in. "You're going after all, aren't you?" Irene asked. "Of course! You were mistaken. Mamma said something else, and what you thought." "No she didn't! I am not deaf!" she replied stubbornly. "Now run along to be like good girls. I'll tell you all about it tomorrow."

"I wish I was old—old as you, then I could go," Irene pouted. "She isn't old. Why don't you wish to be old like mamma or Mrs. De Lisle. They're real old," Gloria said, as she also pouted a little at being sent away.

I ran lightly down the stairs. As Keith looked up when I went out on the piazza I noticed a gleam of admiration and something very akin to pride in his eyes. If anything more were needed to make me happy this was it. He admired me—he was proud of me—a little!

"You look charming, Mrs. Sanderson." It was Mrs. De Lisle who complimented me. But as I had once heard her remark that she always complimented other women when men were around, that it made them think one unselfish and not envious, I cared very little for what she said.

"Thank you," I replied, then seated myself near Keith. "Time to go!" he said after a few moments. "There comes the old lady," he pointed to the moon just coming up.

Everyone rose with alacrity. How silly I had been to think anything would or could be done to keep me home. It was only a short way to the landing, and I walked with Mrs.

Green, while Keith and Margaret went together, and Mrs. De Lisle with a Mr. Tuttle, another guest of the house. The rest of the party, ten in all, straggling along as they will.

When we reached the landing we all went immediately onto the boat, and down in the cabin to look her over. I was delighted. Such a daintily fitted up cabin, with the cutest cupboards and a table on which we placed the supper we had brought.

Margaret had remained on deck with Keith. But after a moment he also came down, and laughingly said he would show us the beauties of the yacht before we started. Just then Margaret called me: "You are younger than I am, Vera, will you run up to the house and get my sweater. I forgot it, and I will be sure to take cold if I do not have it. Ask the cook to give you some lemons also. I know we haven't enough for lemonade for this lunch."

I asked where her sweater was and hurried up the landing. Then I ran, literally ran, to the house. I hated to lose a minute of the lovely party. No other thought entered my mind. I found the sweater easily, then went to the kitchen and the cook gave me the lemons. In all I had not been gone more than 20 minutes.

I fairly raced back. Then I rubbed my eyes. Where was the yacht? Voices came in distinctly to me. I dimly saw by the pale light of the moon the sail disappearing in the distance. Quite a breeze had sprung up, and even as I looked and listened the sail dipped lower the voices grew fainter.

They had gone without me! Stunned, incapable of motion, I stood there on the landing. Then my anger overcame me, and I called loudly to Keith to come and get me, but only the swish of the water against the shore answered my cries. For an hour or more I stood there. Once a desperate longing to jump in—to the water and end it all came over me. It was so fiercely strong I was frightened and moved farther from the edge. By and by I grew very tired. I turned and slowly made my way home, and to my room.

This had been Margaret's plan! She was determined I shouldn't be in the party, and knowing no other way to prevent it, in view of Keith's loving manner towards me, she had concocted an excuse to send me back. But how had Keith come to go without me? What had she told him?

Suddenly it flashed over me. He had thought me below in the cabin with the rest. She was alone on deck when she called me. He would be busy getting the boat off, and would not miss me for some time. Then she could also pretend she thought I was on board. I figured it all out plainly as if it were printed.

I threw myself on the bed and sobbed for hours, I was still weeping when Keith came into the room at 4 o'clock. Tomorrow—Death Silences Reproaches.

GETTING ALONG GOOD

Women are as great sufferers from kidney and bladder ailments as men. Foley Kidney Pills help rid the blood stream of impurities that cause rheumatic pains, backache, swollen, aching joints and stiff, painful muscles. Mrs. Carey, Box 91, R. F. D. No. 2, Middletown, N. Y., writes: "I had kidney trouble ever since I was a little girl but I am getting along good since I have taken Foley Kidney Pills." They act immediately and help restore the kidneys to healthful activity. Sayre & Hemphill, adv.

North Galloway Street LOTS

On account of present conditions you don't seem to want these lots at public auction. I have made up my mind to sell them, and will make the following prices: $400 for any lot left on the plot. $300 for the lots on the East side except the large one at the corner of Galloway street and Ankeney Mill road. The street assessments on the west side do not exceed $25 per year and East side $20 per year for next nine years. I will make contract sale—$100 cash, balance in monthly installments $10 per month—7% interest on deferred payments, or any way that suits the purchaser. At these prices these lots are surely a first class investment or the nicest place in Xenia to build a home. I cannot hold all of them. If you expect to build in the future this is your chance to pick up a site that can not be duplicated.

There are 13 choice ones left. You people who have talked to me about this plot get busy. You know the sworn value of these lots is from $200 to $1,000 by real estate men in Xenia. The Judge said they were worth from $500 to $650. I say they are the biggest bargain ever offered at the prices I have named. Come in and pick them off.
